INTRODUCTION

Key Situations for Solidarity.

Solidarity and community participation are vital during local emergencies like:

- Natural Disasters: Floods, fires, or storms need immediate rescue, shelter, and cleanup help from everyone.
- Health Crises: Disease outbreaks require community health education, sharing food, and caring for the sick.
- Development Projects: Building schools, fixing roads, or digging wells needs communal labor and funding.
- Social Support: Supporting grieving families, local festivals, or community security groups keeps the peace.

Participation in community activities
People come together to rebuild homes.

- clean public spaces.
- support vulnerable neighbors.
- organize cultural or safety events.
- Communal labor
- School and public projects

- These actions build trust and solve shared problems.

"How does helping your neighbor make the whole community stronger?"
"Why is working together important when people face hard times?

"What does it mean to stand by others in your community?

- Opportunity for mutual education on everyone involved.
- Decision makers in relatively short amount of time often gets technical expertise, additional information , creativity.
- Taking part in effective public participation encourage civic and community responsibility in meaningful way.

Storytelling

The Story: The Broken Bridge

Once, a heavy storm hit a peaceful village. Raging river waters washed away the only wooden bridge connecting the farms to the village market. People could not sell their crops. Children could not cross safely to school.

The village elders called a meeting. An old weaver said, "We are strong, but only if we stand as one."

A young carpenter stepped up with his hammer. He said, "I have the wood and the tools."
An older woman spoke next. "I know how to weave strong ropes to hold the beams.

TALK ABOUT IT

- The carpenter, the weaver, and the older woman showed?
- How does sharing resources show care for neighbors?
- How did the old weaver's words about standing as one inspire the villagers?
- What specific role did the carpenter play in solving the community problem?
- What happens to a community when everyone decides to help instead of waiting?

Activity 1

- Collaborative
  Group Work
  Learners examine cards describing community challenges such as an overgrown path to the stream, an elderly neighbour needing help, or a school garden requiring weeding,

Then they work in groups to discuss practical solutions involving collective participation.

Activity 2

The Bridge Builders Community Drama

Storytelling or Role Play

Learners listen to a story about a village where a bridge collapsed and community members of all ages united with their tools and skills to rebuild it, demonstrating unity and determination. In small groups they then dramatize the story through role play to explore how collective effort achieves shared goals.

Activity 3

Learners join a guided walk around the school

compound, observing well-maintained areas that result from collective effort alongside spots needing community attention such as a bushy corner or broken fence, while remaining observant and respectful of the shared environment.

Back in the class, they work in groups discussing appropriate steps that can be taken to clear the bushy areas or repair the broken fence.

Activity 4

: Our Community, Our Strength Poster

Creation Collaborative Group Work

Learners receive large sheets of paper, markers and pictures showing community activities such as clean-up exercises, communal farming and helping an elderly neighbour. In their groups they select one activity and create a poster that illustrates how people participate together for the common good. Then they share their works to the class, explaining why it is important to work together

Activity 5

Think-Pair-Share

Learners reflect individually on a time they observed people in the community working together, such as cleaning the school compound or assisting someone in need, considering the goal and how unity helped achieve it.

They then share their reflections with their partner before contributing to a class discussion.

Activity6

Action Plan: Write three steps learners can take to show care for schoolmates or neighbors.

My Citizenship Value.

I will

- Communicate and collaborate:

Learners develop communication and collaboration by working together in groups to role-play the bridge-building story, which fosters the value of teamwork as they experience how collective action strengthens community bonds.

- Know my Cultural Identity and Global

Citizenship & responsibility:

Learners strengthen cultural identity and global citizenship by depicting Ghanaian communal activities on posters, which nurtures the value of responsibility as they recognize their own role in sustaining community well-being.

- Personal Development and Leadership & responsibility:

Learners enhance personal development and leadership by reflecting on real instances of community solidarity and articulating their insights, which promotes the value of responsibility .
